CARSON COMMUNITY RODEO

Rodeo week is upon us and as always there is a lot of energy and excitement in the air! Carson Community Rodeo volunteers have been putting in overtime to make improvements to the rodeo grounds to make way for one of the greatest performances of western tradition in Carson. This 4-day stretch of events starts on Wednesday night with a Kickoff Dinner at the Carson Community Center and continues into the week with street dances, duck races, a parade, fundraiser dinner and so much more! Professional Rodeo Announcer, Anthony Lucia along with the Morehead family of Three Hills Rodeo will be back in town to provide everyone with three exciting nights of world-class entertainment and award-winning livestock.

In their 45th year, the Carson rodeo has won PRCA's best small rodeo of the year for 12 years in the Great Lakes Circuit! What started out as a private arena on the hill (1977-1982), turned into a community rodeo after being moved down to Ray Carr Arena on Rodeo Drive. With recent improvements, the rodeo grounds now have the capacity to seat 2500 people. Carson Community Rodeo is driven by a committee of 23 volunteers including current president, Brad Forristall, who started helping at the rodeo grounds at the young age of 5. For them and the other residents of Carson, the rodeo is truly a labor of love. This is one of the largest attended events in Pottawattamie County and we hope you can come out to join in on the fun!
